The Rockville Academy.

GEORGE M. THOMAS, A. M., PRINCIPAL.

A preparatory school incorporated in 1806 and in continuous operation to the present.

This Institution offers certain distinct advantages: Individual attention to studies and deportment, which is so necessary for elementary pupils and is almost impossible in the more crowded schools; military discipline, which is an invaluable feature in the education of boys, particularly so at this time.

The property of the Academy, which is well located in the centre of the town, consists of a brick building of four rooms for administration purposes and a new gymnasium, both in good condition and well equipped. The campus is well shaded by stately oaks and other trees. In addition to this, the school enjoys an endowment approximating $25,000.

Such an Institution is needed by the community. Its long history of usefulness and honor, covering a century or more, should be cherished by the citizens of Montgomery county and should command a liberal patronage.

The tuition is $50 a year, payable in equal instalments on entrance and on the 1st of February. No refund allowed except for withdrawal on account of protracted illness.

The next session begins September 10, 1917.

The Principal has been well presented in a previous issue of this paper. He will be glad to meet in advance and talk with any who are interested.

Refer to any of the following gentlemen who are Trustees of the Academy: Judge Edward C. Peter, John J. Higgins, Albert M. Bouic, Thomas Dawson, Wm. W. Welsh, O. H. W. Talbott, Dr C. H. Mannar, C. W. Prettyman.
